PRESS RELEASE

TRADEWIND AVIATION EXPANDS FLIGHTS TO ST BARTH

Oxford, Connecticut and San Juan, PR – February 3rd 2011

Tradewind Aviation is pleased to announce a significant increase in its flight operations between St. Barth and the United States. Continuing through 2011, Tradewind has added two dedicated aircraft to the San Juan – St. Barth scheduled route.

“I am honored that the Island has welcomed us so warmly.” says David Zara, Vice President of Tradewind. “We are proud to be afforded the opportunity to serve the people of St. Barth and I look forward to continued contributions to the island’s stability and prosperity.”

With several flights per day between San Juan, Puerto Rico and St. Barth in the Cessna Caravan and Pilatus PC-12, Tradewind offers modern air-conditioned jet-prop aircraft operated by two pilots. Connecting through San Juan affords visitors significantly easier access than St. Maarten, opening St. Barth to a larger tourist market. St. Barth residents can easily access shopping, leisure and multiple airline connections throughout the world.
